Grades 3-6

Wick principal awards honors

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Wick Elementary School Principal Nick Tottis recognizes that he does not run an Ivy-League college so he's not expecting a lot.

But he does expect to increase student awareness and pride in classwork through his recently-instituted honor roll for students in grades 3 through 6.

The elementary school administrator saw the potential in his unique concept and began to print, for all the students to see, the names of children who obtained a B average or better on their report cards.

"I think it's a goal for the kids," he explained. "It's an incentive and something for them to get excited about."

And the students, he says, do get excited.

"The kids are saying, 'That's okay, I didn't make it this time, but I will next time'", Tottis said. "It's really acting as a motivator."

Students who qualify with a B average or better receive a paper certificate.

If their names are on the honor roll four times (an entire school year), they will be honored during a special year-end assembly.

"We post the names in a special script handwriting in a display box located in the hall," Tottis said. "Kids will walk by and stop to read the names on the list—it really makes the kids feel proud."

In addition to instituting the honor roll, Tottis began what he calls his "Student of the Month" program for children in grades 1 through 2.

"We didn't want to leave the younger kids out," he said. "

They don't get a letter grade so we had to do something like this."

Students of the Month must receive teacher recommendations before being eligible.

Certificates are given for either citizenship or academics once a month.

Tottis said he is considering offering the award every two weeks to increase awareness among the younger children.

"We take their photo and display it on poster board," he said. "It's then displayed in the library window for viewing."

In addition, sixth grade students interview the winners and compose a short article to accompany the photo.

"We're just starting," Tottis said, "we hope to improve upon our methods as we go."

Names of the most recent honor roll participants can be found on page A-8.

Horse farm dresses up for first annual decorating contest

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

The coordinators of Rushlow's Arabian Horse Farm's first annual stable decorating contest won't be horsing around tonight (Monday).

That's when the winner of the best decorated stable will be declared by Lincoln Park Judge William Chapman.

Sponsored by the Horsemen's Guild, which operates out of Rushlow's in Romulus, the contest is designed to initiate the "Christmas spirit even among the horses".

Carol Scott, a member of the group, said the club was organized to bring horse lovers together. Since it just recently formed, the stable contest is the first test of how successful the group will be in initiating activities at Rushlow's.

So far, Scott said, more than 20 boarders have entered the event opened to all horse owners and riders at the farm.

"It just seemed like the thing to do," she said. "What else are you going to decorate in a barn but the stables?"

Deadline for entry was Sunday, Dec. 22. Contestants will be awarded cash prizes of $25, $10, and $5 for first, second and third place, respectively.

Judging will be based upon creativity and originality, Scott said.

Spectators and visitors are welcomed to join in viewing or even the judging proceedings at 6 p.m. tonight.

Rushlow's is located at 29242 Bredow Road, off Middlebelt between Sibley and King roads.

In addition to boarding horses, Rushlow's offers year-round hayrides and sleighrides. Cost is $75 minimum for groups or $7 per person.

Appointments are necessary.

For further information, call 782-1171.

Computers

"main users", is the hub for coordinating activities.

Because the finance department issues payroll, warrants for bill payment and water and sewer bills, that department will be greatly enhanced with computers.

In addition, the city clerk office, which is responsible for compiling voter registration information, is preparing for the task of computerizing 14,000-15,000 registered voters, including the date of the last time their vote was cast, a project that will eventually ease the workload during elections.

"We're at the point where we have to do something," Linda Choate, the city clerk said. "We always have a backlog of paperwork. The computers should solve that problem."

The city council, in addition to agreeing to purchase eight IBM terminals, also chose Data General equipment and Arizala Corporation software.

The police department, which has a separate system, will use New World Corporation software which will help ease clerical problems.

After the massive training is complete, after city personnel have imputed all data and when the final phase of computerizing city departments is done, residents will be able to witness evidence, however slight, that Romulus has entered the computer age.

McLean said city billing, such as water bills, will display a different, smaller type and delinquent accounts will be pre-printed via computer.

Charter violations

"A lot of places can't do those kinds of repairs, so we have no choice."

Block said few repair shops service the type of engine found in the endloader. He added that even if there were more shops, the cost of obtaining estimates many times exceeds the actual amount of repairs.

"There are just not enough dealers left anymore to do that kind of work," he said. "But that doesn't mean (Plank) should have just gone out and contracted for the work. He put us over a barrel, he put us on the spot."

Block, who said that Plank was warned by the council to consult with them before entering into further contracts for repairing public work vehicles, added that the Department of Public Work garage should be equipped to handle certain repairs.

"I'm not saying that the garage should be able to handle anything, but (Plank) is saying he's got nobody qualified to do these repairs. Maybe he'd better examine his garage (personnel)."

"I don't know what answer is," Bergeron said. "If we are out of line, then I'd have to weigh what we did against the need for the equipment. The bottom line is that we had to have those pieces of equipment."

Tree cutting

na said. "What else could we do with it but give it to someone for Christmas?"

Donna admits that the incidents may not seem so enormous to others but she said she and her husband planted every tree four years ago.

"It meant a lot to my husband," she said, "and now the trees are six to eight feet tall. He went to a lot of trouble to make sure the trees surrounded the fence."

Donna said it further aggravates her and her husband to see that the culprits selected trees from the middle of the greenbelt and not near the end.

"I guess we can't expect them to have selected one they would have liked less from the end of the belt," Donna said with a note of sarcasm.

The Boelter's normally buy their own Christmas tree 'bald', Donna explained. A bald tree is one with its roots still intact and usually wrapped in burlap.

The bald tree is then decorated for use during the holiday and afterward planted on their property at home in Romulus.

Bentley Nursery from Belleville replaced the two stolen with similar trees at a cost to the Boelters of $280 per tree.

Donna admitted that the insurance will cover some of the loss but said it was not the money, but the principal involved that most upsets her.

"How can somebody justify stealing a tree during Christmas time—it goes against the very spirit of Christmas," she said.

Let anyone try again to steal a tree, Donna said her dog and 'watchgeese' are sure to warn the family.

"What else can we do?" she asked. "Somebody out there is sitting back bragging about their tree that they stole from us. All I can say is Merry Christmas."

A black champion

Business champions . . . I remember once in my youth reading a soft-cover book about these heros. Men like Henry Ford, Firestone, Edison and the like were the focus of the stories.

I recall how I admired the ability of these men to capture an idea, discover a process or invent a new apparatus. I also remember reading about George Washington Carver and what a brilliant mind he had. His work with something as simple as the peanut made a major change in the course of American industry and made Carver a role model for the black community.

Everyone needs and should have an ideal after which to model themselves regardless of race, and the blacks in America most particularly deserve theirs.

Released from involuntary servitude, yet never given a base of power, or a land to call their own, they have struggled since the emancipation proclamation to find their rightful place in America. Martin Luther King, Jesse Jackson and Muhammed Ali are but a few who helped show the way to a non-violent day of recognition for black Americans.

Today, black America is getting better. From my point of view, blacks are becoming better educated, more articulate and more savvy about what it takes to win in the American free enterprise system. I'm reminded of a phrase from the movie, "2010" . . . Something wonderful is going to happen . . . and I think that is most particularly applicable to the situation of blacks in our society today.

One of our own, Don Barden, born and raised in Inkster, has accomplished close to the impossible. In as highly a leveraged position as you can get, he has constructed three cable franchises in Inkster, Van Buren and now Romulus. But that is kid stuff compared to what he has at last actualized after years of struggling, negotiating, arguing, compromising and legal hassling. He has finally put together something awesome.

Don will build the largest single cable television system in the world . . . in Detroit. While the Detroit dailies endeavor to find the flaws in his armor, they have completely missed the real story. Donald H. Barden has put together the largest financial deal ever negotiated by a minority in any business in the history of America.

He has done this in concert with a major Canadian cable operator, McClean-Hunter . . . and he remains in control with his majority interest intact.

As he struggled to complete this monumental feat, Barden could have caved in many, many times, made himself a bundle of money by relinquishing control to monied people who would have "helped" him if he would agree to, in essence, work for them. But he didn't give up and he didn't give in. And with his refusal to quit and his determination to complete his goal he has scored a great personal triumph and a victory for all of black America.

During the years, Don will no doubt make a great deal of money, but those who know him understand that that really is of secondary importance to him. I spoke with him by telephone the other day. He seemed more relaxed than he has been in some time. The full impact of his deed had not completely registered with him yet.

He was angry that so many in the media only want to dwell on the changes that have been made since the original franchise proposal, and yet he was obviously proud and satisfied with what he knows he has done. After a brief sabbatical, Don will return to oversee the finalization of engineering details and the construction of the Barden Cablevision Detroit system.

Don Barden is truly a black champion of today, and a man I am proud to say I know and do business with. He deserves the congratulations and admiration of all of us.

See you next week.

Taking the right 'Tack'

Once again, the City of Westland has provided an object lesson for municipal leaders in all communities.

We speak of the recent out-of-court settlement approved last week with Ralph Tack, a former recreation director in the city. Tack, fired by present mayor Charles Pickering, had sued the city demanding back pay for compensatory time owed him in lieu of overtime worked during his tenure with the city. Mayor-elect Charles (Trav) Griffin recently named Tack to the position of administrative assistant in his administration . . . on the condition that the lawsuit was withdrawn and settled prior to Tack's employment with the city.

Pickering, obviously bitter and resentful following his defeat at the hand of Griffin, sent a scathing, accusatory letter to Griffin — alleging that Griffin had influenced the council members to settle the suit in order to preclude any political embarrassment with the appointment of Tack.

Nothing could be further from the truth . . . and Pickering knows it. His dispute with Tack has been of long standing, and the lawsuit has been rumored to have been more personal than professional in nature. While both Pickering and Tack deny this, the fact that Pickering's background with the city is with the recreation department and his chronicled efforts to control that department through his new office, including Tack's dismissal, smack of professional jealousy.

At any rate . . . Griffin has begun to clean house, and Trav Griffin is a man who will sweep things very, very clean. While he wanted Tack's expertise, his contacts and his experience available to him, he wasn't about to have his integrity or the city he now manages compromised.

Griffin has taken the same approach in his other appointments, those both announced and considered. He will allow not even the appearance of wrong doing or political favoritism. He is seeking to clean up Westland and return to it the reputation it deserves.

In light of the administration he follows, it isn't an easy task. The lack of cooperation and settlement of this issue, and so many others, rests with Charles Pickering and his reluctance to compromise and come to a fair settlement with the members of council and city employees. He is still attempting to stymie attempts at redressing the numerous and ongoing lawsuits he either instigated or created.

And Charles Pickering is also the man who last week when switching political parties announced that he feels no allegiance to the people represented in the 15th District Democratic Party . . . He complained that the leaders there did not respect him or support him, and therefore he was joining the Republicans.

They don't deserve him.

Bumpy roads rile resident

To the Editor:

How long will residents of Van Buren Township who live along unpaved roads have to wait for relief? For years we have endured driving on roads which range from just dirty to completely impassible. For those years we have heard about the possible paving of some roads or the improvement of others but the fact seems obvious that the "status quo" is going to remain unless someone does more than in the past.

Many residents are forced to travel every day on roads which punish our health, our cars and ultimately our checkbooks because of this inaction. Dirt roads mean dusty homes, broken shock absorbers, ruined exhaust systems, increased car maintenance, etc. How many of us like the thought of having a heart attack or house fire knowing the emergency vehicle would possibly be "speeding" to our aid at 15 mph or, worse yet, unable to get to our homes? (My home was totally destroyed by fire in February and the firemen told me how the terribly bumpy roads forced them to travel slowly.)

Whose responsibility is it to start the actions necessary for improving and/or paving our roads? (We know ultimately the money will come from our pockets.) I have talked with township officials in the past about the problem and I believe it will take more of us who are concerned letting them know our desires. Maybe then our local officials will find out the details of the options available and inform us so the residents of the township can make an intelligent decision.

Richard Hunter
Belleville

Homeowner chides neighbors

To the Editor:

"Yes, thank you, I'll have my cake and eat it too." This was the cry of about 80 percent of the people that attended last night's meeting on the Proposed Master Land Use Plan.

On Dec. 7, I attended a second meeting about the rezoning of property on our western part of the township. Before going to the meeting, I spent several hours writing a letter which I fully intended to read to the board.

After listening to the bickering on both sides I decided to write this letter instead. I can only wonder what people really expected from their community and their neighbors.

I have lived 25 years in Canton Township. I have served the community for 12 years as a fireman. I raised my family here. I have watched it grow from farmland to an urban development, which incidentally raised my taxes from $68 to $2500. Many things that have happened obviously are not the changes that we all wanted to see. But the changes were made and we will live with them until we can improve on erly.

I live on five acres between Canton Center and Beck. My home fronts Mable Road. I also have approximately 700 feet on Ford Road. I have enjoyed my property for the past 25 years, that is why I chose to live on five acres. But I also had the foresight and was not naive enough to believe that Ford Road would always be a two-lane highway surrounded by farmland.

I bought my property in hopes that someday I might use my Ford Road frontage for commercial development. Its best land use today is probably acquiring beer cans, candy wrappers, broken bottles and other debris that has nothing to do with the natural habitat. If I had to guess where these things came from, I would probably say people living somewhere other than on my property.

My good friends and neighbors that so adamantly rejected the idea of anything being developed on Ford Road, I am sure, live in very fashionable and expensive homes. But, my friends, if you think Ford Road is so beautiful why did you not build this home of your dreams on Ford Road?

Listening to speakers like Stan Gill and other farmers brings back horrible memories of what happened to so many of our surrounding communities. You want the farm and you want the serenity. You want the freshness and openness. But you offer no help or solution to these farmers.

If Stan Gill so chooses to farm the rest of his life, the man should have this opportunity, and right now you are probably in agreement but let one of you build your luxurious home next to his farm, and as sure as God made little green apples one day we will hear you say, "Why do I have to put up with that awful smell from the farm-land?"

I guess what I'm trying to tell you is no plan is perfect and I agree the plan that is proposed if far from being something that I want to see in Canton Township but don't come to the township meetings with only your problem or shortsightedness to guide you. If you really want to help, open your minds and try to understand the plight of people that own and have owned hundreds of acres that sit idle only because you enjoy looking at their empty prop-

keeping up with smith

by dorothe smith 699-2714

All around town, you can feel it, that special something that tells you it's Christmas — the time of year that has changed to much since I was little girl and yet is still the same in all the ways that really count.

I lived all of my growing up years in England and if you asked me what I remember most about Christmas, I would have to say the smell of a good cigar.

I had an uncle who only smoked cigars at Christmas time and even now whenever I smell cigar smoke, I'm right back in the house where I was born.

The church bells ringing out the beautiful Christmas carols would be the first sound I heard Christmas morning and I can feel the cold (no heat in the bedrooms) as I scrambled to the end of the bed where my stocking was hung on the brass bed post.

Always in the toe were a bunch of shiny three-penny bits (they looked like dimes) which my grandfather saved for me, an orange, some nuts, a chocolate Santa Claus and a little sugar pig, all pink with a curly tail.

Downstairs in the warm kitchen would be Uncle Joe puffing on his first cigar and Uncle Sid, our first visitors of the day, with a bottle of rum or whiskey to add a drop of cheer to our first cup of tea, even for me (so I wouldn't catch cold).

I remember trying to sleep on Christmas Eve and seeing the stars through the window (in my memory it is always a bright starry night) and being sure, so sure, I heard Father Christmas on the roof.

Knowing he couldn't stop at my house if I was awake, would he forget to come back?

I remember the baby doll with all the handmade clothes, the cradle with lace-trimmed pillows and sheets which magically appeared Christmas morning. Never a glimpse had I seen, though my grandmother and mother had been stitching for weeks.

The wonderful aroma of the sage and onion stuffing in the pork roast that was always cooked along with the turkey and the crispy taste of crackling.

Mince pies with a snowy covering of sugar and the trifle we had for tea, its base of sponge cake was always soaked in wine.

It's funny, but I don't remember too much about the gifts we exchanged. But, I do remember the singing.

Whenever our family was together, we always sang lots of carols and all the old songs, "Annie Laurie," "Grandfather Clock" and one that after a few special cups of tea we got granny to do.

I only remember the last few lines but it was about a poor homeless man looking into the window of a house at Christmas. It ended like this:

Think of what it meant to me
Who friendless had to roam
To hear children singing
That beautiful song of home, sweet home

Have a happy holiday!

Glenn bounces back, beats title contender

Rockets stop Raiders, 64-53

By KEITH DeMOLAY
ANP Special Writer

Mark this date down . . . December 20.

That's the date the John Glenn High School Varsity basketball team came of age and proved to one and all present on this night that this team is a team, ready to take on the best of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

And what better team to start out with than a North Farmington squad that had been picked as one of the title contenders in the WLAA, especially with a 6-5 senior center Rick Anderson and a 6-2 senior forward Paul Wahrman.

But Anderson, Wahrman, and their teammates met their match in the Rockets, consequently, they suffered a image-shattering 64-53 loss at the hands of the Westlanders.

Glenn entered the game with a 1-3 record that certainly did not typify the way they have been playing thus far in 1985 and the 12 young men in red, white and blue certainly wanted to do something about that.

And did they ever. The Rockets came out firing in the first quarter, led by Andy Grazulis' eight points and the tough defense of Tim Wisely who controlled the boards against Anderson and Wahrman.

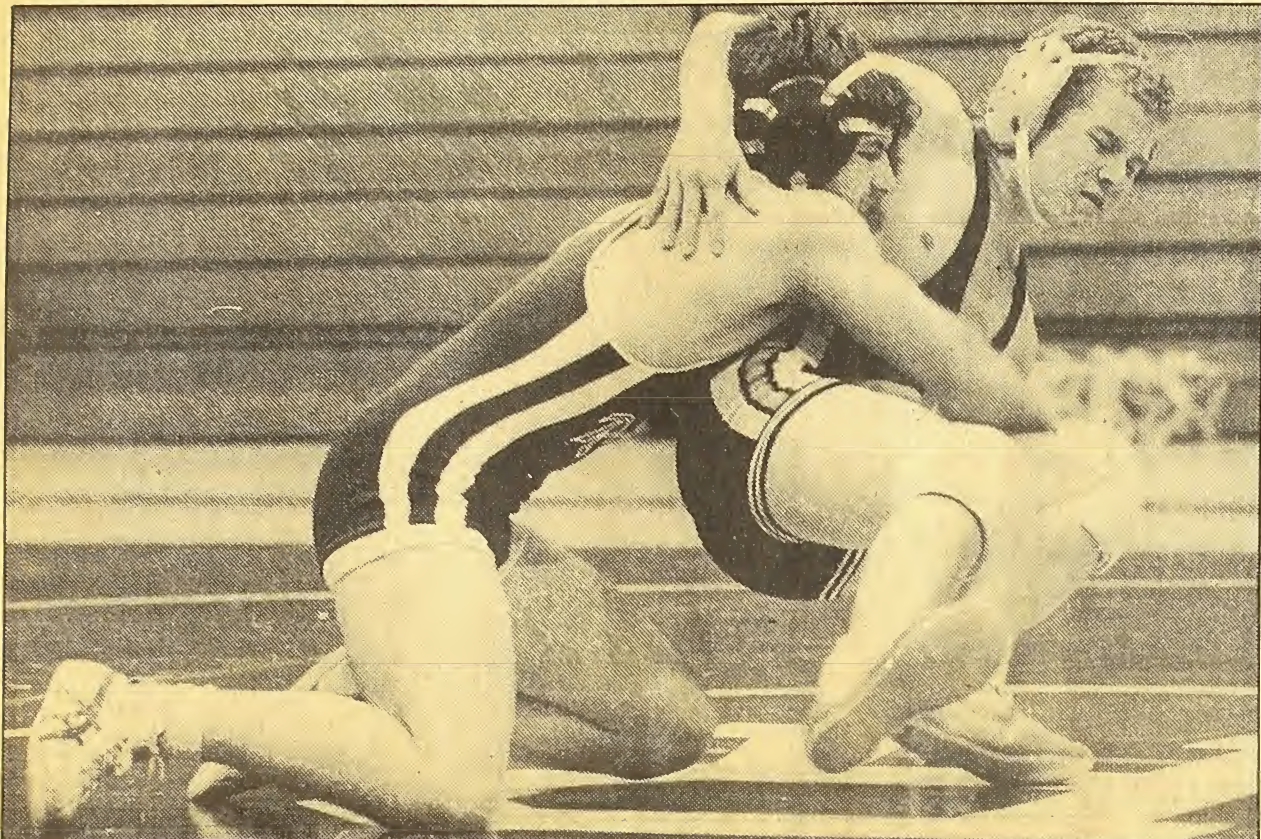

Wiseley threw in five points, including one basket that nearly brought the house down. Wahrman kept the Raiders from being completely swamped, hitting five points that included three free throws. The first period ended, 19-13, but there was more fun to come.

In the second quarter, Wiseley helped build Glenn's lead to 29-21 with a pair of driving lay-ups. But North has too much pride to quit this early, and with revenge on their mind for last fall's 7-0 defeat at the hands of the football Rockets, they went to work. Wahrman became a one-man wrecking crew, hitting shot after shot from every conceivable angle (and some inconceivable ones, too). The 6-2 forward hit 10 points in the period that enabled the Raiders to close within two, 29-27, with 1:49 left. But Glenn's senior forward Ken Gietzen restored the four-point

Duel on the mats

When Romulus's Matt Scully and Belleville's Randy Hughes went to work Tuesday night, they went to work. The two clashed during the 126-pound duel and Scully managed to come off the mats the victor. So did Romulus which captured its seventh consecutive dual meet win to remain undefeated during the 1985 phase of the campaign.

Inkster stretches win streak to 4

Vikings take on Highland Park next

Burying out-of-conference basketball rival Warren Woods Tower 84-42 Friday night, Inkster and veteran coach George Thompson are ready for their pending cage showdown with Highland Park.

Highland Park, the defending Suburban Athletic Conference champs and a perennial

Class A state title hopeful, will be in town on Jan. 7 to take on the Vikings on the homecourt.

"Highland Park has always been a power when it comes to basketball," said Thompson after his minions cut Warren Woods Tower down to size. "The only way we are going to beat them is to cut down on our mistakes and do the things we do well. We can't let them control the boards on us and hope to stop them."

With three players hitting in double figures, the Vikings put Tower away early as the home team outscored their non-conference rivals, 22-14, in the first period. They built up a 47-

24 lead at the halfway mark, leaving nothing in doubt after that.

Calvin Hayes had an excellent night as he tossed in 22 points. The hard-working forward also played an exceptional floor game. Teammates Jeff Hardy and Andre Davis chipped in 11 and 10 points, respectively.

In the meantime, Inkster was forced to hold off a determined East Catholic quintet earlier in the week. East Catholic and Inkster exchanged baskets on near equal terms most of the evening before Thompson's Vikings pulled out a biting 62-60 victory.

Both teams came up with four players in double figures, however, East Detroit's versatile center, Lou Acuff walked away with high-scoring honors. He finished the evening with 26.

Inkster answered with 15 points each from Barry Hardy, Andre Davis and Dennis Walker and Calvin Hayes added 10.

Wayne rolls past nemesis, 67-45

Wayne Memorial, the defending Wolverine "A" Conference champ, got a superlative effort from 6-2 forward Mark Robinson to turn back nemesis, Dearborn Fordson, Friday night, 67-45.

The victory cleared a major Wayne obstacle and put coach Chuck Henry and his cagers in the conference driver's seat.

"Obviously we're pleased with this victory," Henry said after the crucial win. "But no way can we or will we rest on our laurels. This league is an excellent basketball league and we have to come to play each and every game."

Robinson came up with a career high 27 points against the Tractors and Henry said that "the team did an excellent job getting the ball to him. Mark knew what to do when he got it."

Close for three periods, Wayne finally managed to shake off Coach John Mel-tyre's cagers with a 17-8 edge in the last quarter. The Tractors were in upset range until then, trailing by a mere four for the first period (14-10). Fordson kept its hopes alive despite Robinson's heroics. Wayne also managed to put pressure on the Tractors who committed 30 turnovers for the evening.

The Zebras turned a 30-20 halftime advantage into a 50-37 margin for three quarters.

Joining Robinson in the double figure scoring column was Rod Sommons who had 10 points.

Wayne will take an unblemished 4-0 record into the Howell Invitational, scheduled for Friday night (Dec. 27). The Zebras play in the nightcap against the host, Howell. In the opening round, Cherry Hill will meet Redford, nee Detroit, Catholic Central at 6 p.m.

The championship will be decided the following night at 8:30 p.m.

Tigers edged

Although Belleville's cage machine appears to be improving with each start, it sputtered late in the fourth quarter against Saginaw Eisenhower and was left standing with a 76-72 setback.

The loss left Belleville and Coach Leon Birdyshaw with a 2-2 over-all record for the 1985 phase of the cage season. They won't see action again until Fri., Jan.3 when they clash with Dearborn Divine Child in Dearborn.

"We were pleased with most aspects of our game with Saginaw," remarked Birdyshaw. Belleville, behind the balanced scoring of Chris Grantham, Sean Jones, Millard Thomas and Lewis Willis, stayed close the entire game. Eisenhower was up 17-14 at the end of the first period, but the Tigers came back and tied the game at 32-all at intermission.

CELEBRATING OUR 25TH ANNIVERSARY

No way out of it

Romulus' All-Area grappler Jim Schlener has this Belleville Tiger under control during a mat confrontation between the two schools. Schlener remained undefeated in dual meet competition thanks to a 3:10 pin over his 132-pound counterpart and Romulus also stayed perfect on the mats with an impressive 49-20 triumph over the Tigers.

Tigers honor tankers

Belleville High paused last week to honor the girls' swimming team. Coach Sam Vicchy's tankers wound up the recent campaign with a 14-1 won-lost dual meet record, and its third consecutive Wolverine "A" Conference championship.

In fact, since the Wolverine "A" Conference's conception in 1983 Belleville has been its only league swim champ.

Among those who were recipients of Tiger accolades were Reiko Snider, Jenny Schurr and Laura Slem. Each was presented a plaque for their contributions to the Tigers' outstanding year.

Three year awards were given to Susan Duda, Bambi Gross, Karen Kotlarczyk, Tracy McCormick, and Jennifer Powell. Belleville varsity pins went to Wendy

Reiko Snider

Jenny Schurr

Good, Traci Gentle, Wendy Giza, Christy Sikes, Jennifer Owsley and Holly Druker.

Varsity letters also were awarded to Kristy Howard, Melanie Merritt, Kim McKelvey, Gina Montie, Rachel Snure, Carrie Cook, Natalie Schroeder, Limda Parent, Shawn Strine, and Cheryl Bird.

Numbers were given to Ann Twydell, Dawn Reynolds, and Wendy Kobish.

The 1985 edition of the Tigers also established three records thanks to their 200-yard medley relay team made up of Reiko Snider, Susan Duda, Tracy McCormick, and Tracey Gentle who were clocked in 2:03.00. Karen Kotlarczyk posted the best ever time in the 200-yard individual medley (2:23.70), while the 400-yard freestyle team of Jenny Schurr, Karen Kotlarczyk, Wendy Giza and Gina Montie carded a record-setting 3:54.02 during the campaign.

Among those Belleville swimmers who earned all-conference recognition were Wendy Giza, Melanie Merritt, Karen Kotlarczyk, Gina Montie and Jenny Schurr.

Other awards were to Carrie Cook (manager's award), Reiko Snider, Jenny Schurr, Tracy McCormick and Karen Kotlarczyk - captain's award; Kotlarczyk (Most Points); Wendy Giza and Melanie Merritt - Most Outstanding Performance; Karen Kotlarczyk - Most Valuable Swimmer; Wendy Good - Most Valuable Diver; Jenny Schurr - Most Improved Senior; Bambi Gross - Most Improved Junior; Natalie Schroeder, Most Improved Sophomore; Gina Montie, Most Improved Freshman; Reiko Snider, Scholastic-Athlete Award; Tom Pettit Award went to Melanie Merritt for Outstanding Performance at a Meet; and the prestigious Harry Hidenfelter Award to Karen Kotlarczyk for doing the most for the swim team.

Eagles undefeated

Romulus grapplers pin Belleville for victory No. 7

Romulus wrestlers left little to speculation or doubt last week when they took on neighboring Belleville on the mats. The non-league duel ended in the Eagles' favor, 49-20.

The victory stretched Coach Wayne Schimming's and Romulus's winning streak to seven this season. They have not been beaten in dual meet competition and are ranked among the top teams in the area this year.

"We have a lot of work ahead of us," said Schimming after his latest triumph. "But, I am satisfied that we are progressing at a pretty good clip."

Belleville bounced back after the setback to edge Monroe, 32-30, for its second straight Wolverine "A" Conference victory of the campaign. The Tigers were scheduled to travel to Howell for an invitational before taking off for the Christmas Holidays. They will return to the mats on Jan. 4 at Plymouth Salem.

In the Romulus-Belleville duel, Hung Guiyen launched the meet with a victory over his Belleville counterpart, 98-pound, Rob Gray. Hung garnered a victory in 3:30. Tony Venturini then routed Belleville's 105-pounder, Dave Reed, 11-0, before Belleville got into the victory column thanks to James Bishar who edged 112-pounder, Ronnie Turner, 9-6.

Romulus then won the next four weight classes with Dennis Porter (119), Matt

Scully (126), Jim Schlener (132), and Kevin Tracy (138).

In the Monroe confrontation,

Belleville built up enough of a point-advantage that it claimed the victory despite losing the final three matches.

Glenn wins

lead to 31-27 with a bucket. Again, North refused to quit. They scored the last four points of the quarter to tie the score at 31 apiece and left the floor to the cheers and applause of their fans.

Coach Gordie Davis, who has been through league title chases and North-Glenn games countless times before, took matters into his own hands and got his team together during their own halftime session. Whatever he said to them certainly worked to perfection.

Glenn took control of the second half with some deft ball-handling, some clear, crisp passes, and solid shooting. Of course, that was not to mention the stiff defense they did on Anderson, who was shutout in the third quarter and scored only one free throw the entire second half.

Wahrman kept the Raiders in the game with 14 second-half points to finish with a game-high 29 but it was not to be enough to stop these Rockets on this night.

In the third period, Greg Bates found his shooting eye with nine points, including a three-point play that enabled the Rockets to build a 51-41 lead by the end of the period.

Both Hawley and Bates took turns running the offense that took time off the clock and found high-percentage shots for Grazulis - he had four for the period - and Wiseley.

Couple weds at local pizzeria

By RAY DAY
ANP Staff Writer

Shelly Wahlers didn't come down the aisle to the tune of the "Wedding March" in her marriage ceremony last Friday. When this bride made her entry into the building, a make-shift band of computerized-animal robots played "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" as Chuck E. Cheese of pizza fame escorted the bride to her position.

Wahlers and her new husband Jim Staten didn't want the traditional church ceremony with candlelight, formal gowns and tuxedos, hors d'oeuvres and a stuffy service. Neither did they want a mundane wedding reception at an ordinary hall with the usual band playing time-worn tunes as the newlyweds dance the night away.

Instead, the Statens opted for a wedding at Chuck E. Cheese's Pizza Time Theatre in Westland.

The whole event came as a shock for visitors on both sides of the couple's family as not many people had been informed that Chuck E. Cheese himself would escort the bride. They weren't informed that Minch and Jasper would stand up for the ceremony as well.

Wahlers, a Crosswell, Mich. resident, and Staten, of Oak Park, decided that they wanted their wedding to be different — something unusual.

"We thought it would be fun and a whole lot easier," said Wahlers of the unusual place to tie the knot. "We've been going out since I was 15 and he was 16. The wedding was impulsive."

Having gone together for more than six years, the couple reports that marriage has been on their minds for the better part of five of those years. They had once obtained their blood tests and applied for a marriage license only to cancel marriage plans due to a lack of finances.

The pizzeria-type ceremony seemed a likely alternative.

With many traditional weddings exceeding $3,000 and $4,000, Wahlers is happy that her unusual event would cost only $700.

"We were looking around... things ran up to $800 just for the food and stuff — it was really ridiculous. This will only cost $2 per person."

Giving up the traditional ham, turkey and buffet-style smorgasbord of food, those attending the Friday wedding enjoyed pizza, beer and pop.

Even with the setting as extraordinary as it was, a few traditional wedding values were saved. The Rev. Jack Spitz officiated and he didn't have to wear a costume. Also "normal" was the wedding gown worn by the new bride.

Aside from the tremendous amount of money the Statens saved with the pizzeria wedding, Shelly reported that it saved another headache for the couple.

"My family and friends were all fighting over who would stand up — this way there was no problem."

"I don't know, it's just fun — we do a lot of things different," Shelly remarked.

Chuck E. Cheese walked Shelly Wahlers (right) down the aisle in her wedding last Friday at the pizzeria. The wedding party also featured the unusual faces of Minch and Jasper.

Holiday gift-basket giving

If you haven't already made your list . . .

If you've checked it twice . . . Let the fat guy worry about who's been naughty and nice!

So you were one of the first people on the block to finish your Christmas shopping BEFORE all those decorations went up at the malls, eh? Now you find yourself being invited to some holiday social events and you're wondering what to take as a small host/hostess gift?

Head on over to a store that sells baskets, visit a discount linen store and get a few holiday cloth napkins and let your imagination go wild!

Last Christmas, with a little advance planning, we purchased some small, inexpensive wicker baskets (in the $1.99 range). Instead of filling them with purchased items, I made a basketful of my favorite appetizers (my New Year's resolution is to learn how to spell hors d'oeuvres) and froze them in baggies that I wrapped in colorful tissue. I included a recipe card with directions on how to serve and heat the little treats.

For a friend who enjoyed breakfast in bed, I filled a basket with some miniature brioches, a jar of French preserves and heather honey and a small split of champagne. Tied a colorful holiday ribbon around two red napkins, voila!

Everyone has a friend who enjoys Oriental food. This year, Santa will bring a small, shallow basket filled with Chinese hot mustard, those cute little miniature corns, a packet of Szechwan pepper, a tiny jar that I filled with oil and inserted three garlic cloves to make a flavorful addition to a stir-fry and two sets of chopsticks. Of course, the basket will contain my secret recipe for Pork and Cashews and homemade springrolls.

A business associate who goes wild over eggs will get a dainty oval basket stuffed with pastel paper and will include an egg coddler (two-egg capacity), a dozen fresh brown eggs and two homemade flaky croissants. The special treat in this basket will be the thermos filled with a great homemade Hollandaise sauce along with an attached recipe.

My dad, the nut freak who enjoys the cracking of the shell almost as much as the eating of the nuts, will get a knapsack filled with colorful baggies of California pistachios, Georgia pecans, Italian filberts, chestnuts, walnuts, almonds, cashews, macadamias and salted-in-the-shell peanuts.

Neighbors who go wild over chocolates will get wicker baskets sprayed red and filled with homemade truffles, a recipe for the truffles and two complimentary tickets to the National Kidney Foundation "Chocolate Lovers Holiday" on Saturday, Jan. 11 and Sunday, Jan. 12 at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency.

Darby, the miniature German Shepherd across the street, will even get a small basket filled with homemade dog biscuits and a rawhide chewbone. I'm sure he won't know what to do with it, but there will be a recipe for homemade doggie biscuits enclosed.

Of course, folks, this doesn't even touch on those friends and associates who are wine buffs, theatre goers, beer drinkers, popcorn freaks, car buffs and what-have-you.

My suggestion is that something from the heart, that uses a little imagination and homemade goodness is far more appreciated and will be used rather than the usual box of store-bought chocolates.

Make it in the home and with the heart!

Peace on earth, goodwill to all people!

PHYLLO SPINACH TRIANGLES

This recipe makes about 90, even more if you fold them small, they freeze like a charm and all you have to do is pop them on a cookie sheet and bake at 350 for 30 minutes.

1 pound phyllo dough, cut into four long strips
1/2 pound butter, or margarine, melted
2 packages frozen spinach, thawed and drained WELL
2 eggs
1 cup small curd cottage cheese
1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese

Combine spinach, eggs, cottage cheese, feta and parmesan cheese. Mix well. Place one strip of phyllo dough on a cookie sheet. Brush with melted butter. Repeat. Place about one tablespoon of the spinach filling on the bottom of the strip and fold, like you were folding a flag to seal all the edges. Place on a cookie sheet and freeze for 20 minutes. When solid, pour into a large baggie.

4 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour two loaf pans. Lightly beat eggs in a large mixing bowl. Add oil, milk and vanilla and beat well. Add dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Turn into pans and bake for 40 to 45 minutes or until a toothpick inserted into the center comes out clean.

1/2 cup sour cream (for garnish)
1/2 cup cucumbers, thinly sliced (for garnish)

Steam salmon in stock or wine for six minutes. Remove from stock. Dissolve gelatin in 1/4 cup cold water. Let stand until it swells; dissolve in the hot stock or wine. Place all the ingredients in a processor or blender and blend until smooth. Pour into a mold, refrigerate.

Garnish with sour cream and cucumbers.

EASY CHEESE BALL

1 pound cheddar cheese, grated
4oz. cream cheese, at room temperature
1 cup finely chopped cashews
1 small clove garlic, finely chopped

COMSUMER ALERT

The Serviceability of Silk

Silk is used in a wide variety of weaves and textures in both women's and men's garments.

Beautiful? - Yes.
Serviceable? - Not always.

The cost of the garment often has little to do with its wearability. In fact, the majority of the problems have come with the most expensive labels.

Color Loss and Discoloration

Poor dyes used on silks are affected by the spillage of food or liquor. The spillage may result in rings which cannot be removed. The normally harmless chloride salts in food and liquor will cause color loss in poorly dyed silk. Fading of color from sunlight is not unusual. Abrasion or chafing in normal wear may result in loss of brightness or depth of color.

Fabric Splitting

Because some silk yarns are fine, the fabric may split at points of wear. Tight-fitting garments will strain and split the fabric. Because of the chloride salts in perspiration, food or liquor spillage and underarm deodorants, all may cause the fiber to degrade, resulting in fabric splitting.

DOs and DON'Ts

- DO use dress shields to prevent perspiration from attacking the fabric.
- DO protect silk garments while eating or drinking.
- DO see a professional drycleaner after staining the garment.
- DON'T buy a garment too tight.
- DON'T attempt stain removal.
- DON'T buy bright or vivid colors.
- DON'T give silk garments hard wear.

Once upon a time, there were bookstores that sold only books. To put it mildly, things have changed a bit. Walk into a mall these days and search out a Waldenbooks or B. Dalton's book emporium and not only will you find hard-covers and paperbacks, but also cassettes, computer programs, video tapes and games. That's right, games. According to Manager Jeff Littel at Waldenbooks store in Westland, "People are coming in and doing quite a bit of their Christmas shopping," adding that many of the shoppers are surprised at the assortment of items carried. Some of the items on the shelves include:

A party game with the inviting title of "How to Host a Murder," subtitled (honest) "Grapes of Frath." Unlike the boardgames of old, this game and others like it include among the playing pieces a cassette tape which reveals the details of the murder, clue manuals, sealed clues and much more for up to eight players. One of the biggest books of the year was the autobiography of General Chuck Yeager, called simply "Yeager," spurred on by cable showings of "The Right Stuff." On the back of the jacket cover, Yeager shows the swagger that is associated with him when he states "I don't deny that I was damned good. If there is such a thing as 'the best,' I was at least one of the contenders." Certainly one of the nicer books of the season is a hefty bio of Ol' Blue Eyes, Frank Sinatra, by his daughter (and alleged entertainer) Nancy. Far from a "Mommie Dearest" type of book, this $50 coffee table-topper is a tribute to one of the greatest singers ever by one who was there. Chock full of color and black and white photos of the crooner from all stages of his life, fans of Sinatra will find this a bargain and a treasure to keep for years to come. OK, he was born in America, was born to run, and he has never been chronicled better than in "Springsteen," a lush new tome from Rolling Stone Books. From his early days to his glory days, more than 200 great pictures fill out this large book, although the text is not to be overlooked; it's by Robert Hilburn, music critic for the Los Angeles Times and one of the best-known rock writers in the country. "Rock and roll was never a hobby," Bruce tells Hilburn, "it was a reason to live!" Recommended for the rocker of the house. The name Carl Sagan is so associated with outer space that the title of his latest tells it all: "Comet." Not content to let us watch Halley's Comet in an easy fashion, Sagan has put together an interesting book on comets - what they are, how they are formed, why they appear to us as they do and many, many other answers. "Comet" is a luxurious, beautiful book that will undoubtedly be read long after Halley's Comet has left our skies. Also on the non-fiction side of things is the popular new book from Robert Schuller, titled "The Be (Happy Attitudes)," subtitled "Eight Positive Attitudes That Can Transform Your Life." Schuller's down-to-earth writing makes the book very readable and potentially valuable to readers. Also touted as non-fiction is the latest book of ghostly meanderings from Beth Scott and Michael Norman. The nearly 500 page book is full of stories of haunted houses, possessions, vanishing people, mysterious lights, exorcisms, poltergeists and spontaneous combustion. Yes, it could happen to you! What makes this book really special is the area that it covers: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and, of course, Michigan. It's called "Haunted Heartland" and lovers of this genre are raving about it. In addition to the hundreds of cassettes on sale at the store, Waldenbooks has some special packages that make great presents. These nicely packaged sets each contain six hours of readings (or acting of whatever). Included is one set of children's favorites, "The Magic of Xanth," from science-fantasy author Piers Anthony's enormously popular series, this set covering the first three books. Marion Zimmer Bradley's best-selling "Mists of Avalon" has six tapes to itself, while 10 stories from Stephen King's "Night Shift" anthology has something that will make the hair stand straight up on anybody's head. Favorites include "I Know What You Need," "The Last Rung On the Ladder" and "Graveyard Shift." For the art lover of the family, "Ansel Adams: An Autobiography" is a sure winner, with many great photos taken by the late master of the f-stop. For kids of all ages, there's "Mythadventures," a color volume adapted from the Ann Arbor based author Robert Asprin's best selling "Myth" series of books. It's an illustrated adventure akin to the popular "Elfquest" books of the past few years. Lastly, for the sportsperson of the family, author George Plimpton has done it again with "Open Net," in which he (once again) gets right in there and knocks, uh, heads with the professionals, and this time around it's hockey. Ouch! Full of Plimpton's notes and anecdotes, this is high-spirited fun from beginning to end. If nothing on this Christmas list fits your needs, check out a bookstore anyway. Remember, they aren't just for books any more. Everything reviewed here and much more is available at Waldenbooks newest location, inside the Westland Mall.

Happy Holidays

Thanks to Kenny Keach of Kenny's Place restaurant in Ypsilanti there will be three well-fed people during the holidays. Keach donated gift certificates for three food baskets at the restaurant last week to Associated Newspapers' representative Mary Bossary, left. Handing out the certificates were Chef Tony Moss and Manager Kim Rotunno. The dinners were distributed to needy families in Inkster, Romulus and Wayne through the Goodfellows organization last week.

dan's dogs

by dan a morris

Copyright 1985 Dan Morris

Recently, I had the good fortune to see a fine documentary on dogs and our relationship with them.

A good part of the documentary emphasized how we feel toward our dog, the important position a dog holds in our family, basic dog-body structure, sight, hearing and breeding. All was well presented and informative.

The segment of the program I found most enlightening (covering something I tried to present to the public years ago) was the portion devoted to how dogs benefit the infirmed, handicapped, mentally retarded and physically im-paired among others.

The narrator described a therapist's test being given to a young woman with a speech affliction. The woman talked smoothly enough to the doctor who was analyzing her and, as is normal for us all, her blood pressure rose above the reading shown to be a normal "resting level," (everyone's blood pressure is raised during any conversation.)

When the doctor brought in her dogs (all five of them), the patient's blood pressure level dropped below that normal resting level, demonstrating medically the calming effect animals have on us.

Another situation was illustrated by a stroke victim. The elderly gentleman has refused any form of physical therapy, positive his twisted, tremor-inflicted arm would never be of use to him again. Along with his physical handicap, the doctors were as much concerned about his mental outlook which played such an important role in his overall recuperation. (The man refused any type of friendly overture or conversation.)

As a last resort, the man was given a pet - a dog! Where no surgeon or loved one or therapist could help him, the love and devotion developing between the man and his dog attained the impossible. The dog became the man's therapy.

It took time, but the man eventually was typing with his once crippled arm! He was communicating with people. His sense of humor returned and his outlook on recovery became positive rather than negative, all because of a dog.

These incidents are commonplace stories most all of us have heard at one time or another. But they deserve being repeated.

Another less appealing portion of the documentary explained how different countries and religions treat dogs. Some societies believe dogs are the lowest life forms and are degrading to accept as a part of their life. Some societies kill dogs for food, while keeping favorites for pets.

Our sensitivities shudder at the thought of a dog being slaughtered or eaten. But, did you know that in the U.S. alone an average of 600 dogs per hour are put to sleep because there are not enough homes for them?

How about starting the new year right - adopt a pet. The rewards will be 10 to 15 years of happiness and companionship, and you may even lower your blood pressure.
